

Korum celebrates Janmashtami

ON the occasion of Janmashtami, Korum Mall, Thane, invited children between the age group of two and 12 to deck up as Krishna and Radha, as a part of a fancy dress competition. They also invited Govindas to break a 32 feet handi in the mall premises. Winners of the fancy dress competition were felicitated and it took a 7-tier human pyramid to break the handi.

"As a community center, we always look for engaging ways to celebrate the days that are special to our customers. Janmashtami has always been celebrated in a traditional manner at Korum through Dahi handi, and this year it promised to be an even grander affair. We have invited people from Thane and neighboring region to join us in our Janmashtami celebrations, thousands of people join us on this occasion. Children also enjoyed a lot and our main successes was that only," said Deva Jyotula, centre manager, Korum Mall.
